STRIKE AT G-M AVERTED TODAY

Mediation Board's Peace Formula Accepted By Company

(By Associated Press)

A threatened strike against the General Motors corporation, holder of $750,000,000 in defense contracts, was averted early today when the company accepted a national mediation board peace formula a few hours before the scheduled dealine for the walkout.

The mediation board tentatively scratched another labor dispute off its books with word of union acceptance of terms to settle a strike at the Ex-Cell-O corporation, Detroit die and tool plant.

10-Cent Increase

The General Motors settlement provided a flat wage increase of 10 cents an hour for an estimated 250,000 workers in 89 plants, and for no closed shop, union shop or maintenance-of-membership shop. Under a new contract to run one year from April 28, 1941, the company agreed not to lock out its employes, and to give consideration to seniority in making promotions.

The corporation estimated the wage increases would add $50,000,000 annually to its payroll. The present average wage before the raise, the management said, was about $1 an hour.

The CIO United Automobile Workers originally had called a

TRUCK OPERATOR INJURED IN CRASH

Akron Man Is Given First Aid, Then Arrested for Reckless Driving

Floyd O. Miller, 37, of Akron, escaped with cuts and bruises when his truck left the road on Route 46, near the Western Reserve road intersection, at 7:45 p. m. Thursday, and was demolished after striking a tree.

After hitting the tree, the truck rolled into a nearby gasoline station drive. Flying splinters from the demolished truck hit and damaged two parked cars, owned by Ernest Holben and Russell Craig of R. D. 1, Canfield.

After Miller was given first aid treatment by a Canfield physician, state highway patrolmen charged him with reckless driving. He will be given a hearing in the mayor's court at Canfield probably tonight.

Miller's truck was loaded with scrap aluminum and miscellaneous merchandise at the time of the accident.

The drivers of three cars involved in a mishap at the intersection of Route 62 and the Johnson road, west of Westville, at 12:15 p. m. yesterday, escaped uninjured, the patrol reported.

They were Bert L. Farrington of R. D. 1, Leetonia, Clyde W. Barclay of Alliance and Harry Seeve of Sharon, Pa.

Three motorists were arrested yesterday by Salem state highway patrolmen.

John Pengor of Cleveland was fined $25 and costs by Mayor Norman Phillips after pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving. A similar charge cost John W. McCormac of Warren $10 and costs. F. Myron Agnew of Boardmore was fined $10 and costs by Justice R. R. Johnson on a charge of speeding.

CANTON CAFE OWNER SLAIN

$13,700, to Cash Workmen's Checks, Taken by Two Holdup Men

(By Associated Press)

CANTON, May 16.—Robert Efinger, 51-year-old cafe operator, was shot to death in a daring daylight holdup today when he resisted two robbers who escaped with $13,700 in cash.

Efinger had just drawn the money from a bank in order to cash factory payroll checks. He was ambushed as he emerged from his garage with the money in a satchel.

As he pulled his pistol to resist the two holdup men, one fired a shot into his stomach. Efinger fired one shot as he was falling, but it was wild. He died less than an hour later.

The robbers ran to a car parked in an adjoining lot and escaped. Police said a third man was waiting to drive the car.

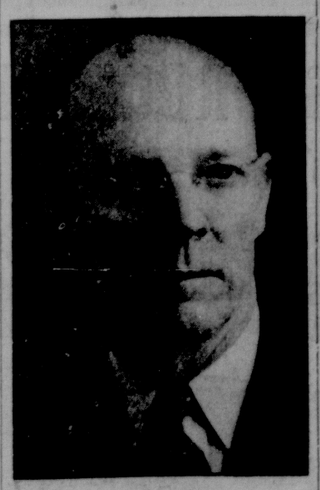

The killing occurred outside Efinger's cafe at Tuscarawas and Shroyer streets, in a west end commercial district within a mile of Canton's downtown section.

Several passers-by saw the then escape. Efinger was unconscious until his death.

Anticipating today's payday at the Republic Steel and Timken Roller Bearing plants, Efinger had made two trips to a downtown

RAF SMASHING AT GERMANS IN FRENCH SYRIA

Nazi Warplanes Attacked At Damascus, Rayak And Palmyra

TANKS REPORTED ENROUTE TO IRAQ

British Re-occupy Salum, Egyptian Border Outpost

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, May 16—British airpower is smashing at the Germans in French-ruled Syria where Nazi planes and panzer forces are reported making a swift infiltration further along the Nazis' route to the Suez and nearer Britain's Middle East oil fields.

An official British announcement in Cairo today disclosed that the first British blows had been delivered on this potentially crucial battlefront yesterday when German warplanes were attacked by the RAF at Damascus, Rayak and Palmyra, all in French-mandated Syria.

Tanks Enroute to Syria

This followed upon a report by Reuters, British news agency, that German tanks and other light mechanized forces were occupying Syria and moving across her sandy wastes toward Iraq.

Fleets of German long-range bombers and troop carriers also were reported landing on Syrian airfields. Reuters said its information came from an independent French news agency.

Foreign reports that German tanks were crossing Syria bound for Iraq were not immediately confirmed. Similar reports in Istanbul, Turkey, however, said one or two German air squadrons had landed in Syria and that light tanks also had arrived.

Britain's hold on the sea lanes of the eastern Mediterranean make it improbable, some sources thought that any Nazi forces had been disembarked from ships on the Syrian coast.

Military circles, however, regarded it as likely that the Germans might be flying light tanks and

JOB PLACEMENTS INCREASE IN CITY

86 Per Cent Boost Shown In April Over Month Of March

Jobs in private industry for Salem workers increased 86 per cent in number during April over the previous month, placement records of the Salem Employment Security Center reveal.

Manager Arthur S. Johnston announced that 188 private jobs were filled last month by workers referred from the Salem office of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

A total increase of job placements of 39 per cent was recorded last month by all offices of the BUC in the state, Johnston said. This gain marked the second successive month in which placements by the bureau's employment service division were higher in any month since October, 1933. Private job placements by all bureau offices during the first four months of 1941 are 60 per cent above the corresponding period of 1940.

The total number of new claims for unemployment compensation filed last month with the Salem employment center was 107, an increase of 32 per cent, compared to the total number of new claims filed during March. These were made mostly by miners who were idle as a result of the mine walkout.

Benefit payments to unemployed Salem workers numbered 364 in April, a decline of 23½ per cent, compared with March. Salem office has paid out $16,906.76 to claimants from Jan. 1, 1941, through April 30, 1941.

Average weekly benefit amount for total unemployment in April was $8.74, and for partial unemployment the average check was $5.78, Johnston reported.

KNEW OF HESS PLANS, CLAIM

Hitler In On Flight, Says Major Adams, Member Of Parliament

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, May 16.—Out of the welter of controversy and speculation about Rudolf Hess' flight to Britain came the announcement from Major Vyvyan Adams today that he would seek to learn whether the deputy fuerher's trip to see the Duke of Hamilton "was planned with the connivance and support of the German government."

Adams, a conservative member of parliament, gave notice he would put his question to Minister of Information Alfred Duff Cooper at next week's house of commons session.

Labor Minister Ernest Bevin yesterday called Hess a calculating "murderer" and said he came with the full knowledge of Adolf Hitler.

The British intelligence service took a growing interest in the case. The government called for help in from Adolf Hitler's former "shadow."

Possible new developments in the affair were foreshadowed, meanwhile, by a conference between Duff Cooper and the Duke of Hamilton, Scottish nobleman through whom, the Germans assert, Hess believed he could single-handedly arrange peace with Britain.

PETAIN'S MOTIVES ARE SCRUTINIZED

Writer Questions Whether He Approved Use of Syria by Nazis

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

France's new move toward collaboration with her Nazi conquerors—a sensation boldy punctuated by the disclosure that Germany is occupying French mandated Syria and already using its airdromes for operations against Britain—represents a grim development for the Allies.

It means more than that, for Washington has labeled it as a tential menace to the western hemisphere. President Roosevelt's appeal to the French people clearly marks the gravity of the position.

Approval Questioned

While Marshal Petain, French chief of state, yesterday announced extension of cooperation with Nazidom, there remains some question as to whether he actually approved of the use of Syrian territory by the Germans. If he did so he abandoned one of his foremost policies—that of compelling Hitler to keep hands off the French colonies.

Certain French quarters in Vichy say that Petain has made some

FDR Has Authority to Act Against Any Threat to Hemisphere

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The threat of a Franco-German "collaboration" alliance which President Roosevelt believes can jeopardize western hemisphere "peace and security" found the United States prepared today for any action needed to safeguard American interests.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was said in informed quarters, possesses sufficient authority without going to congress to take whatever steps are necessary to counter any joint Nazi-Vichy action endangering the interests of the United States and the other 20 American republics.

Naval Threat Seen

The gravest threat to the American nations, it was said, is the possibility that, in "collaborating," France may be forced to turn over to Germany her fleet and the strategic naval bases at Dakar, Oran and Bizerte.

German control of Dakar on the hump of the African coast commanding south Atlantic sea-lanes, naval authorities pointed out, would provide the Nazis with a base from which U-boats and bombers could play havoc with American shipping.

In the western hemisphere, a Vichy-Berlin axis of "collaboration" brings into question the status of the French colonial possessions—Martinique, Guadaloupe, French Guiana, St. Pierre and Miquelon.

The United States has shown particular interest in Martinique because of its strategic position in the center of the shield of American naval and air bases guarding the entrance to the Panama canal.

Martinique Valuable

Martinique also shelters 100 American-made warplanes which were enroute to France when the armistice was signed; the aircraft carrier Bearn, at least one other French naval vessel, and several merchant ships; and from $50,000,000 to $250,000,000 of French gold.

In the event Vichy-Berlin "collaboration" warrants, the United

'Twas A Long, Hard Grind-- But Prospect Mibster Wins

As the adage goes—"If at first you don't succeed, try, try again". A local example of the success of this maxim is young Albert Spack, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Spack, 1150 Newgarden ave.

Back when Albert went to first grade there was a contest that was (and still is) popular at this time of the year: The Salem News Marble tournament. He was just a little fella and he still wore shorts to school and when he bent down to shoot at the marbles his knees got all dirty. And Albert won and was champion of the second grade at Prospect school. But he didn't get to be school champ. And he didn't the next year. Or the next.

Today Albert's a big boy — he wears knickers to school now. He's a proud boy to. He's proud because all the kids out at Prospect clap him on the back and say "Nice work, Al" and then admire the big medal on his chest that says "National Marbles Tournament-School Champion." He finally did it.

He did it by beating John Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Beck, 940 W. State st. in two out of three close matches at the Prospect playground this morning. With the whole school looking on Beck took the first game in a two-out-of-three play-off with a 7-4 score. But from then on, it was Albert all the way. He took the second match 7-5 and the last one 7-4.

Others in the room champions play-off were: Charles Messenger, a substitute for Edwin Jeffries (who had the measles). Charles had the speed but not the endurance. He was a holy terror his first game, licking Tommy Battle 7-6, but the little first grader's shooter began to get awfully heavy in his second fray. He barely made it across the ring. Bill Coddington and Arthur Weber, second and sixth grade champs, lost out early, but John Rupa, another sixth grader, bowed to Spack only after he got to the semi-finals.

Spack will represent Prospect school in the city championship to be held later this month at Reilly field.

AXIS PARTNER FRANCE HEARS F.D.R. APPEAL

Status of French Colonial Holdings In West Is Questioned

COAST GUARDSMEN TAKE VICHY SHIPS

Board Normandie, Once Luxury Liner, and Other Vessels

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 16. — The United States, except for the diplomatic formalities, reached an open break today with the Vichy government of France.

The administration, informed sources said, is satisfied that the Petain regime has embraced a program of increasing partnership with Germany and henceforth must be considered in about the same category as the governments of other Nazi -dominated nations in Europe.

The situation immediately thrust to the fore the future status of French colonial possessions in the western hemisphere, particularly Martinique in the Caribbean and French Guiana on the northeast coast of South America. A high official singled out Martinique as one colony that was receiving special attention.

There was no inkling in government quarters as to just what action might be contemplated, but administration spokesmen have repeatedly made clear that any attempt by a puppet government to use new world colonies in the interests of another power would be considered a change of colonial sovereignty and hence a violation of the Monroe doctrine. The United States took Greenland under its protection as a precaution against this, following German occupation of Denmark.

President Roosevelt took the unusual step last night of issuing an appeal to the French people over the head of the Vichy government.

He called on them, in effect, to reject, even yet any "so-called 'collaboration' which will in reality imply their alliance with a military power whose central and fundamental policy calls for the utter destruction of freedom."

The people of the United States, he declared, could hardly believe that the Vichy government would enter an alliance "which would apparently deliver up France and its colonial empire, including French African colonies and their Atlantic coasts with the menace which that

IT CAN HAPPEN TO ANYBODY

Running through much of the Hess conjecture is a thread of belief that no man who had been so close to Hitler and his gang as Britain's prize prisoner would fly the coop.

This disturbing doubt thrown on the official version that Hess really did leave Germany against orders omits the lively possibility that Hess did not have much to do with events leading up to the flight.

In 1934 Hitler liquidated at least 77 and perhaps as many as 1,000 associates guilty of nothing but the crime of being regarded as impediments to his plans; they had nothing to do with what happened and supposed up to the last minute they were getting along fine. Like the Russians who just disappeared because Big Joe didn't like them any more, they were victims of the purge plan of politics—out of sight, out of mind.

It can happen to anybody whose life continues at the whim of the state; i. e., Big Joe, Big Adolf, or Big Benito. Hess, with a pipeline to serve him, may have seen what was coming and caught the last plane west.

FOOTNOTE ON INSANITY

Psychiatrists should be bright-eyed with enthusiasm over the discussion of insanity opened by the official German version of the Hess case.

Insanity, first of all, is a social and legal term, not a medical term. Any attempt to define insanity in the latter field invoives the necessity of defining sanity, which is too difficult to be attempted. Thus, it may be argued from the Nazi point of view that Hess is insane because he failed to adjust himself to the environment of the dictatorship he helped to establish. At the same time, the same failure, from the British point of view, might seem to qualify him as eminently sane. Hitler, himself, from the British point of view is completely insane, even to the point of displaying some of the common symptoms of insanity as recognized by the medical profession in all countries. Yet, inside Germny, due to the curious environment created by the intemperance of the Nazi ideology, the same symptoms are the viewed as the qualifications of leadership.

One of the classic queries of all time is "Who's loony now?" Since 1934, any skeptical German defying the Nazi credo that dead men tell no tales has laid himself open to doubt of his sanity. At the same time, identical defiance outside Germany has not been grounds for doubt, except among those capable of identifying themselves with Nazism by remote control. Hess, crazy as a bedbug by Nazi standards (on the assumption he actually did flee because he had fallen out with the hierarchy) at least has reached a place where being crazy by Nazi standards is a mark of distinction.

SPREAD ON THE RECORD

While it seems unlikely the new rule about announcing the cost of remarks "extended" into the appendix of the Congressional Record will curb their volume, it does show a proper spirit and will be duly appreciated by the taxpayers who pay the freight. On Monday, May 12, some of the things "spread on the record" at public expense were:

A radio address by Sen. Mead of New York, the text of Herbert Hoover's radio address of the preceding evening, a speech by Sen. Aiken of Vermont, an editorial from the Denver Post, a talk on beryllium by Rep. Reece of Georgia, a memorandum on a senate bill from an Oregon constituent of Sen. McNary, an article from the Washington Star, a labor story from the American Federationist, an article from the Canton Repository, comments by Rev. Fr. R .A. McGowan on the autobiography of Msgr. John A. Ryan, Resolution No. 8 adopted by the Waupaca county (Wis.) board of supervisors, an editorial from the Roxbury (N. Y.) Times, various speeches to the National Catholic Welfare conference, a tribute to American motherhood by Rep. Frances P. Bolton, a statement before the house subcommittee concerning federal reclamation, a list of 20 questions "America must answer," an article on the national debt from the Boston Post, the text of an address by the editor of the Christian Century, an open letter to his congressman from the editor of the Clay county (Neb.) Sun, an editorial from the Washington Times-Herald, a discussion of taxes appearing in the Weekly News Letter of the American Federation of Investors, a speech at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier on Mother's day, an editorial on naval convoys from the Wall Street Journal, a tribute to the superintendent of the document room of the house of representatives, and a number of short speeches and articles of a miscellaneous nature.

This was an average day's grist, put into the hopper for various reasons and with indeterminate effect. It sounds aimless and perhaps it is, but when the time comes for archeologists to exhume the fragmentary remains of America, blessed will be the first one who finds a perfectly preserved file of the Congressional Record.

AN AFFIRMATION OF FAITH

It cannot be called surprising when persons who saw liberalism in New Deal bureaucracy are able to see progress in development of the totalitarian idea. One requires no more imagination than the other.

Each misconception, furthermore, can be traced to the same origin—failure to fit the fact into the background. Perhaps it might be said that each is a result of a common American fallacy, which is believing that the latest thing is the best thing.

In much the same way as merchants once made cheap-jack merchandise seem desirable by using the magic word "electric" to spruce it up, politicians have learned how to attract suckers by picking out the right labels.

Thngs always are done in the name of democracy. The goal of statesmen always is peace. All movements are liberal. The welfare of the common people always is uppermost. The future is going to be brighter. Civilization was born the day the party in power took office. Everybody is acquainted with the patter.

Unfortunately, not everybody takes time to be suspicious of it. They neglect to fit what seem to be new facts into old backgrounds. They forget there is nothing new about autocracy; that the only genuinely new thing about autocracy is the prospect that some day it will be squelded once and for all by the surge toward freedom.

In "The Wave of the Past" by R. H. Markham—as clear an affirmation of faith as anyone has made to refute the absurd belief in German autocracy as a "wave of the future"—appears this statement, which summarizes the issue:

"The past has its mark and the future has its mark. The one is slavery; the other is freedom. Any wave that brings slavery is a resurgence of the past. Currents of mass longings may give it power, but no slavery-bearing wave really helps the masses advance. It keeps them back. It may be accompanied by beautiful words and glowing phrases; poets may praise it and philosophers extol it; but if it brings slavery it is of the past. That is why Communism, Fascism, and Nazism are waves of the past. They are broken promises. They are blasted hopes. They are sacred trusts betrayed."

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, May 17

A DAY on which dogged determination, reserve, sound judgment and well-rooted integrity may avert entanglement in some very disturbing, uprooting and startling events both unprecedented and unique. Such visitation may be upsetting to the very foundations of life and its associations, but may be successfully engineered into safe and productive channels by restrained and conservative action in the critical moment.

Those whose birthday it is should be prepared for a year of some extraordinary and unprecedented events, in which the whole life and its destiny may seem to be spaded up from old ties, interests and objectives. While on the face of it there may be calamity yet sound evaluation of circumstances may change woe to results of an enduring and gratifying nature.

A child born on this day may have some disturbing or erratic tendencies although it will be deep, sound, steadfast and philosophic.

Psychologist Devises Formula So That Girls May Snare Husbands

CHICAGO, May 16 — Special News Service)—Every woman of marriageable age in America, no matter how plain or ill-favored she may be, can snare a husband—and a good one, too—into matrimony if she'll follow the simple psychological principle of "moral dominance".

A psychologist, Dr. Robert N. McMurry, married and the father of a young son, today took up the matrimonal cudgels of the girls who fear becoming spinsters and let them in on this almost escape proof" formula for hooking a man against his will and better judgment:

Just pick out the type of whom it is easy to achieve "moral dominance", and go to work in a businesslike manner until the "dominance" is established — avoiding "unnecessary sentimentality" and concluding the campaign with a situation in which he's made to feel "like a dog".

Set Moral Dominence

"It is relatively easy", said Dr. McMurry, who is associate professor of personnel administration at Central Y. M. C. A. college, "to establish the moral dominance over extremely conscientious individuals, those with strong feelings of inferiority, or those who have been dominated by their mothers, but generally speaking, from the wife's viewpoint, they make good husbands—they're docile, steady and faithful.

"It's very difficult to become morally dominant over the very selfish and criminal types, but they don't make good husbands anyway so can be eliminated from any given matrimonial campaign".

After having picked your man Dr. McMurry advises, give him the impression you're the one who "understands him", leading him to become dependent upon you, and then proceed as follows:

"On the pretense of being helpful, begin to point out some of his more obvious weaknesses. This is the part of the program that requires the most finesse, but if it's done constructively it will be accepted because this type of man the over-conscientious and those who feel inferior) are prone to look for flaws in themselves and do not resent being told about their shortcomings.

Take the Offensive

"In this part of the campaign, the woman must take a leaf from Hitler's book—always take the offensive. She must never let him get the upper hand.

"After she has established her moral dominance, there remains only the problem of getting him to commit himself—or believe he has committed himself—to marriage.

"The preliminary step in this direction is to create situations in which the man will be led to make statements or indulge in acts (perhaps a kiss) which can be interpreted as compromising. These do not have to be truly compromising according to prevent day standards. However, if the woman has succeeded in establishing moral dominance, she can magnify the significance of a triviality.

"The next step is to apply moral pressure. This should always be done with dignity and restraint. There should be no scenes. The prevailing note should be that of quiet bravery.

"If he demurrs or attempts to escape he should be made to feel like a dog".

And—since the latest census figures show a man or more for every woman it should be a cinch for every girl—if the formula will only work.

"RIGHT UP HITLER'S ALLEY!"

Airmen Trained In Canada Bolster Offensive Of R.A.F.

BY DEVON FRANCIS
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, May 16—The suddenly intensified attacks by the Royal Air force against objectives in Germany and in German-held territory dovetail with the arrival in England of fresh batches of airmen trained in Canada.

The R. A. F. offensive has been ascribed to increasing supplies of American-made bombers, to better weather, to "retaliatory" tactics and to propitiousness.

Confidential information reaching aviation circles in the United States says it can be attributed with greater accuracy, and without reflecting on the need of the British for warplanes from this side of the Atlantic, to the success of the commonwealth air training plan.

The plan, under which Canada is training men from all parts of the British empire, is beginning to show results overseas.

That conclusion is supported by a statement made 18 months ago by Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, World war ace and now an airline president—that certain types of planes were being put in "cold storage" by the British as they came off the production lines, for want of competent pilots to fly them.

The British themselves admitted during the first intensive raids by the Germans last August and September that a lack of pilot personnel had forced the R. A. F. command to throw its men into action for much longer periods than they normally would be permitted to fly.

The Canadian schools, which stretch the breadth of the dominion, were set up to produce a minimum of 25,000 pilots, air gunners and observers a year for at least three years, with an eventual goal of 30,000 a year.

The plan, announced in December, 1939, took time to show its effects because of a need of instructors, airplanes and airports. A flow of training planes from the United States has lessened the worries of the men in charge of it.

PETAIN'S MOTIVES ARE SCRUTINIZED

Writer Questions Whether He Approved Use of Syria by Nazis

concession in order to gain time. The dogged fight which the old gentleman has made to preserve the integrity of his colonies might lend some substance to that idea.

However, the fact remains that strategically important Syria is now a moving mountain to threaten the safety of the Allies in the Near East. If this is an indication that Petain may grant similar privileges to the Nazis in France's African possessions, it represents a position of the utmost concern to the Allies.

Would Provide Bases

Should the marshal throw his colonies open to Hitler, it would provide the Germans with eagerly sought bases for operations which would threaten the British control of the entire Mediterranean.

And if the Nazis were able to secure the naval base of Dakar on the west coast of Africa, they could strike heavily from there against the trans-Atlantic shipping routes.

If Petain really is succumbing to Hitler's onslaught, then Allied hope must turn in the direction of General Weygand, commander of the French colonial possessions. He has always stood for the welfare of his country and there must be some question whether he would surrender colonial privileges to the Germans under any circumstances.

Cookies 5 Varieties All Fresh, lb. 19c

People ask us, "Why do you always sell your fresh eggs so cheap?" We'll let you in on the secret. We have a very large farm trade. These good farmers buy their groceries from us and expect to sell us the products they produce. They bring us fresh produce in season, calves, chickens, hides and eggs and trade them for our quality groceries and meats. Weekly, we take in dozens and dozens of strictly fresh eggs. We can't eat them all, and we insist that they be moved out rapidly in order to keep them fresh. We therefore sell strictly fresh eeggs at all times at the lowest prices in Salem. Eggs are nourishing and they're cheap! Why not eat plenty of them? Take home several dozen tomorrow or call us and we will deliver them free, at the lowest price strictly fresh eggs can be sold.

LAUD NAVY AIRMEN IN MID-AIR RESCUE

Officers Praise Feat of Fliers In Saving Life Of Akron Man

(By Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 16—Two naval airmen who snatched a marine parachutist from death in mid-air may receive the navy cross for what superior officers described as the most remarkable rescue in aviation history.

The fliers, Lieut. W. W. Lowrey, 34, of Dallas, Tex., and Aviation Machinists' Mate J. R. McCants, 41, of Jordan, Mont., looked lightly on their spectacular feat. "Any experienced navy pilot could have done it," Lowrey said.

But others differed, particularly Marine Lieut. Walter S. Osipoff, 33, Akron, Ohio. He knew that were it not for Lowrey's skill and daring and for McCants' bravery and strength, his life would have been forfeit when he leaped with his parachute from a marine transport plane over a navy landing field yesterday.

The automatic 'chute release somehow failed to function. The static line snarled and left Osipoff dangling head down.

Passengers still aboard found they couldn't haul him back.

Lowrey and McCants, test pilots, noticed Osipoff's predicament. They hurried into a navy biplane dive-bomber and took off in pursuit of the transport.

Far out over the ocean they flew, for the air over land was too rough for the precise flying their rescue plan entailed.

Slowly the smaller plane nudged up under the larger. Within 20 feet of the transport's tail assembly, Pilot Lowrey held his ship, while McCants reached over the side and hauled Osipoff in.

Then Lowrey pointed the nose of his plane directly at the lines attaching Osipoff to the transport and with a slice of the propeller snipped them through.

Alliance to Hold Police Examinations On May 23

ALLIANCE, May 16. — The new state law limiting police to a 48-hour week will play havoc with Alliance's eight-man police department, Police Chief Harry L. Stark informed city officials today.

The eight men, including a chief and captain, average 70 to 75 hours a week each, he said. To comply with the law, at least twice as many police will be needed and the existing eligibility list under civil service contains but three names.

To meet the impending emergency the Civil Service commission today announced an examination May 23.

Father Acquitted of Slaying Now 14 Years Old

Anna, Mrs. Pizzuto, Mr. Pizzuto, Goldstein, Connie and Tony

If this family group is overly happy, there's a good reason. The father, Francesco Pizzuto, third from left, has just been acquitted in New York of a double-slaying in which he was involved in 1927. Pizzuto, who claimed self-defense, had fled to Cincinnati where he has lived. Last year his conscience bothered him and he returned to New York to give himself up. The slain men were thugs who had threatened his life. In the picture are, left to right, Anna Pizzuto, Mrs. Lucille Pizzuto, Pizzuto himself, Attorney Sam Goldstein, Connie and Tony Pizzuto.

Sally Rand Starts a Riot

Fan dancer Sally Rand is carried into Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Burton Hall. She was "kidnaped" from a Boston night club to keep her from appearing at a Harvard freshman smoker but argued her way free. At the smoker she agreed to strip if the boys would, but failed to follow their example and a riot followed. Later she promised to give a show for the police because of the trouble she had caused.

600 MINE WORKERS SAFE IN ROCK FALL

BELLAIRE, May 16—It was joy today instead of tears for the families of 600 Rail & River Coal company miners.

At 3 p. m. yesterday, just before the men went off duty, a mine motor jumped the track deep in the mine, knocked out roof supports and caused a rock fall. The 600 were trapped.

James Roscoe, Sr., 48 of Bellaire, engineer on the train, was buried alive under tons of rock. His son, James, Jr., 28, was riding the rear end of the train when the accident occurred. He ran for help.

Terrified families hurried to the scene and watched rescue squads don equipment and enter the mine. But from there on the news was good.

Rescuers, digging furiously, found Roscoe alive and uninjured. Protected by an empty car and his safety helmet. Three hours later they broke through and the miners began emerging from behind the barricade.

By 6 p. m. all were safe.

The accident recalled the disaster last March 16 at the Willow Grove mine at Neffs, only six miles away, where 72 miners lost their lives in an explosion.

Joel McCrea and Ellen Drew form a new romantic team in the comedy-romance, "Reaching for the Sun", at the State tonight and Saturday. The picture also features Eddie Bracken, recently seen as "Dizzy" in the Henry Aldrich series, Billy Gilbert, and Albert Dekker.

A backwoodsman who comes to Detroit auto factories to get money to buy an outboard motor meets a pretty lunch counter waitress who is a dance hall hostess in her spare time. Their romance is fostered by his pal, a fellow workman who is interested in the girl.

The two men settle their argument over the girl in a duel using two huge machines at the plant as weapons, but even after the backwoodsman and the girl are maried, his yearning for the woods and a motor causes domestic trouble. It takes all of his friends tact and ingenuity to keep him out of trouble.

At the Grand tonight and Saturday is a double bill: "The Kid's Last Ride", with the Range Busters, Ray Corrigan, John King and Max Terhune; and "The Pinto Kid", a Charles Starrett western.

MINNEAPOLIS— "Dopey", Mrs. T. R. James' turtle, is no dope with the ladies.

Three weeks ago he disappeared from the James' lawn pool. He was given up for lost until recently when Mrs. James found Dopey in the pool with another turtle on whose back was scratched "Maggie."

Mrs. James doesn't know where Dopey got Maggie but she assumes it must be "Mrs. Dopey" now.

RESEARCH BEHIND MODERN DRUGS

* * * * *

Use Is Based Upon Most Exact Science

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Every once in a while some crank arises who talks about the advantages of Nature's methods of cure—air, water, food, exercise, light, etc. This would be all very well and certainly nobody denies the value of these methods of treatment, but the enthusiast usually ends up his sermon with some such statement as that doctors prefer to use poisonous drugs rather that these natural methods of treatment.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Now, the fact is that drugs are just as natural methods of treatment as water and air and light and they still remain the most useful means of treatment in the doctor's armory. Why isn't the action of a plant as much one of Nature's treatments as the action of a food? There is nothing superstitious about the action of drugs. They have been, for years, studied in scientific laboratories and their use is based upon the most exact science.

Modern Use of Drugs

A good account of the place of drugs in modern medicine is a recent book Magic in a Bottle, by Milton Silverman (publishers — The Macmillan Company, New York, 1941). It recounts in popular and semi-fictional style a number of discoveries of the valuable drugs which we are using today.

The first chapter is on the "Conquest of Pain" and recounts the development of our knowledge of opium and morphine. Other chapters are on the alkaloids, an old housewife's recipe (digitalis or foxglove), cocaine, the fever fighters (aspirin) the hypnotics (the barbitals), and finally "The Red Assassin", the story of Prof. Domagk and sulfanilamide.

Each of these stories illustrates certain principles in the development of the usefulness of a drug.

In the case of the discovery of the antipyretic drugs which are so valuable in reducing fever, and especially in rheumatism, they were developed by Prof. Hermann Kolbe at the University of Leipzig, at the suggestion of Prof. Thiersch. Thiersch knows that carbolic acid would kill germs but, of course, it was dangerous to give internally. Kolbe suggested that carbolic acid could be modified to produce salicylic acid and that salicylic acid in the body would release carbolic acid slowly. They found that the principal action of salicylic acid was to reduce the temperature of a patient, no matter what infection he had. From this start they made also antipyrine and phenacetin.

In the course of time they stopped using carbolic acid and used crude aniline dye as the source from which they obtained their drugs.

When Kolbe produced salicycle acid, another derivative was obtained called acetyl-salicylic acid. Nobody paid any attention to this until 1899—so recent is our knowledge of certain drugs. Then the staff chemist, Felix Hoffmann, of the Bayer Company, found that acetyl-salicylic acid would help his father's rheumatism, as well as reduce temperature; it was less irritating to the stomach and less poisonous generally; larger doses of it could be given. Because it is found in concentrated amounts in spiraea plants, it is now known as "aspirin".

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. B. T.: — "(1) Is thick, slow flowing blood an indication of any kind of disease or lack of something in the diet? (2) Is a mastoid infection caused by hereditary disease?"

Answer—(1) I doubt if anybody on earth could make a diagnosis of thick, slow flowing blood, and in health it is very unlikely that it ever occurs. (2) Heredity has nothing to do with mastoid disease. It is caused by infection of the throat going up the Eustachian tube into the middle ear.

Reader: "Will you tell through your column how long a cold or flu germ would be active? For instance, how long after using would a glass, or spoon, or a handkerchief used by one with a cold or flu transmit the germ to one using or handling these articles?"

Answer: No definite answer can be given to this question. However, it may be said that the ordinary washing of dishes and eating utensils in scalding water and the laundering of a handkerchief will kill the germs. It is believed now that the incubation of a cold is quite long and symptoms do not appear until perhaps two weeks after exposure.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

PHILADELPHIA—It's against the law for motorists to blow their automobile horns unnecessarily in Philadelphia, and police indicate they aren't going to accept excuses. In connection with the city's newly adopted anti-noise ordinance, a special patrol car was driven 2,100 miles through the streets without once using its horn.

THREE MUST BILLS BEFORE ASSEMBLY

Legislature Ranks Thinned With Adjournment of Session Nearing

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, May 16.—The Ohio legislature limped to work today for the final operating day of the 94th biennial session, it ranks depleted by numerous members who had gone home.

Three pieces of "must" legislation were on the last work sheet:

The senate-approved bill to raise safety standards in coal mines, up for a vote in the house;

An appropriation of $350,000 to pay sundry claims against the state, before the senate for action, and

A compromise report of senate-house conferees on the $352,800,000 biennial appropriation bill, which required approval of both branches.

To Be Signed by Governor

With these matters disposed of, the legislature will recess for 10 days or more to permit the governor to sign bills and then will adjourn sine die.

The appropriation bill conference report, submitted to the senate last night, eliminates an increase of $50,000 in state university building funds and adds $410,000 to hire 90 extra men for the state highway patrol. It also allocates $101,000 for enforcement of the mine safety bill and hiring of additional mine inspectors.

Chairman Fred Adams of the senate finance committee said the bill would leave a surplus of $180,-000 in the general revenue fund.

Yesterday's session saw enactment of legislation assuring indefinite tenure of employment for experienced school teachers with life certificates in districts of 800 pupils or more.

The act, sought by teachers for many years, sets a five-year limit on contracts in districts of less than 800 pupils.

Other Highlights

Other highlights on the eve of adjournment were:

Final passage of a bill increasing the maximum workmen's compensation death award from $6,500 to $7,000 and raising the maximum weekly benefit from $18.75 to $21;

Arrangements for creation of soil conservation districts upon approval of 65 per cent of the landowners;

An unsuccessful attempt by the senate democratic minority to force a vote on a bill guaranteeing $40 a month old age pensions, and

Senate receipt of a protest from Democratic leader William M. Boyd of Cleveland, describing as a "lasting shame" the senate's procedure in enactment of legislation barring non-American parties from the ballot.

The house killed a bill of Senator Grant P. Ward (R-Franklin) which would have created a legislative committee to investigate horse racing laws of Ohio and other states and recommend remedial legislation.

The senate also gave final approval to bills authorizing the Scioto county commissioners to reimburse a former county treasurer for $3,500, which he paid to cover script lost in a flood.

URGES U. S. KEEP ITS NAVY STRONG

NEWPORT, R. I., May 16—Navy Secretary Knox said today "we intend to maintain our right of ever improving the lot of the common man even though we must waste the substance in wars of defense to maintain it."

Calling for a strong United States navy in times of peace as well as war, he said in an address before a graduating class at the U. S. Naval War college that a once-disarmed Germany had been enabled to challenge the world "only six short years" after Hitler became chancellor.

"We can rest assured," Knox continued, "that when Germany and its will of force is ultimately defeated in Europe another Hitler after 30 years hence will be able to be the same in an even shorter period of time if the world again relinquishes its policing power."

The secretary said the year 1939 proved that "1917 was not a war to end all wars, and we should be foolish to take it for granted that the present holocaust will be any different."

Knox predicted that "the same hue and cry of disarmament will be raised by so-called peace groups following this war that caused our government to scrap our 1916 building program in 1922."

C. C. C. Call Is Issued

LISBON, May 16. — Wallace E. Young, secretary of the Columbiana County Soldiers Relief commission, announced today that an intermediate enrollment of war veterans for the Civilian Conservation Corps will be held on May 26, and that applications are now being received. King states eligibility has been modified to accept veterans who have been discharged from the service for three months instead of the usual six months.

One-Girl Show

INGHAM, Neb.—She's the only graduating senior, but Dorothy Heath, 17, will get a full-fledged commencement program at Ingham high school, with a speaker and everything. County Attorney Sam Aldrichs will deliver the commencement address.

ROGERS, Ark. — Speaking of "fleet-running" automobiles, here's one that buzzed along—for about two blocks—with black-strap molasses in the crankcase instead of motor oil. And then the car stopped. A can of molasses had been poured into the crankcase by mistake.

bank. On the first he drew about $3,000 which Police Capt. Elmer Clark said he apparently put in the cafe safe.

His wife accompanied him on the second trip, but stayed to transact further business while Efinger drove back alone to the cafe with the $13,700 in bills and another $300 in coins. The robbers did not take the coins.

Mrs. Efinger said while she was at the bank a stranger approached and suggested they draw "plenty of money" because of fattened payrolls at local plants. She said more money was thus drawn than originally intended. Police who quickly set up a patrol of all roads leading from Canton suggested Efinger might have been followed from the bank.

STRIKE AVERTED IN PLANTS OF G-M

strike against 60 of the General Motors plants for 7 a. m. Thursday, but the union postponed the deadline for 24 hours at the mediation board's request. Nevertheless, more than 35,000 GM employes walked out of plants at Flint and Saginaw, Mich., yesterday—a result, the union said, of a misunderstanding about the postponement.

Walter P. Reuther, director of the GM division of UAW, called the agreement "the greatest victory" for General Motors workers since the first contract was signed in 1937, and said the wage increase was the largest ever won in the automobile industry.

Reopening Time Not Set

Although employes of the Ex-Cello-O corporation at Detroit voted to accept terms to end their 10-day strike, the management had not agreed to the mediation board's suggestion and the time of reopening the plant thus was uncertain. Terms of the proposal were not disclosed.

Detroit, however, was experiencing other labor disputes. Some 8,500 CIO-UAW members struck against the Hudson Motor company, asking 15 cents an hour increase over unrevealed current wage scales. Ten thousand AFL craftsmen in Detroit went out on a sympathy strike last Friday in support of 1,500 lumber truckers who seek union recognition, a 5½-day week and wage increases. Present pay rates have not been announced.

There were labor troubles too, in San Francisco, and far to the west of the Golden Gate, at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. Labor Secretary Perkins denounced a strike of CIO and AFL machinists which is holding up $500,000,000 worth of naval construction in the San Francisco bay area. The machinists seek a wage increase from $1 to $1.15 an hour, and retention of double pay for overtime.

Boats to Use U. S. Ports

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Vessels of Canadian registry would be permitted to haul iron ore between United States ports on the Great Lakes during the 1941 season under a bill passed yesterday by the house and sent to the senate. Present law forbids vessels of foreign registry to trade between domestic ports.

Son to Complete Work on Rushmore Memorial

Work on the Mount Rushmore memorial at Rapid City, S. D., begun 14 years ago and terminated with the death of the late Gutzon Borglum in March of this year, again goes forward under the direction of Borglum's 28-year-old son, Lincoln. It was the wish of the late sculptor that his son complete his work if he died. This is a new picture of the memorial. From the left, we see the heads of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Theodore Roosevelt and Abraham Lincoln.

AMERICAN LEGION PLANS "POPPY DAY"

Memory of America's war dead in the first World War will be honored here on Saturday, May 24, when everyone will be asked to wear a memorial poppy in tribute to their service and sacrifice.

Plans for the observance of Poppy Day are being completed by the Chas. H. Carey unit of the American Legion Auxiliary under the leadership of Mrs. Elwood Calvin, Pappy Day chairman. The memorial flowers, made by disabled war veterans, will be offered on the streets throughout the day.

"This year, with the threatening shadow of a new World War falling across America, the memorial poppy has new significance", said Mrs. Russell Burns, president of the auxiliary. "It shows that America still remembers and honors those who fell in its defense twenty-three years ago; that Americans still believe that America's free way of life is worth any sacrifice, and that the spirit of patriotism still burns strongly in American hearts."

The poppies which the auxiliary will distribute here have been made by disabled veterans at Sandusky. Proceeds will go into the welfare funds to carry forward the auxiliary's work for the disabled, their families and the families of the dead during the year ahead.

U. S. BREAKS WITH NEW VICHY ORDER

Status of French Coloinal Holdings In West Is Questioned

involves to the peace and safety of the western hemisphere."

The unexpected pronouncement from the White House followed swiftly on the heels of the radio address of Marshal Henri Petain to the French people, saying that "collaboration" negotiations had "lighted the pathway to the future" for France.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement, well informed authorities said, could be interpreted as meaning that this government no longer placed reliance in the ability of the aged World war marshal to resist German pressure for progressively more active cooperation with the Nazi program.

This "collaboration," it was believed, probably would entail Vichy's abandonment of neutrality and then a gradual gravitation to the status of a belligerent against Britain, France's erstwhile ally.

Before President Roosevelt spoke out, the government manifested its abrupt withdrawal of confidence in Vichy by ordering armed coast guardsmen aboard all French vessels, including the luxury liner Normandie, once the pride of France's merchant fleet.

The reason for this action was not explained. Coast guard officers said merely "you can draw your own conclusions," but other sources asserted that it was undoubtedly to protect the ships—numbering a dozen or more—from possible sabotage, such as crippled most of the recently seized Axis vessels.

One aspect of Mr. Roosevelt's statement that aroused particular interest was his implication that Vichy was about to conclude an alliance with Germany. This led to the belief in diplomatic quarters that the chief executive based his remarks on information direct from Admiral William D. Leahy, ambassador at Vichy, because the generalities of Marshal Petain's address were not considered sufficient for such a conclusion.

Informed quarters said that they thought that Mr. Roosevelt's appeal was aimed primarily, not at unoccupied France, but rather at those parts of the French empire which still remain loyal to the Petain regime.

BIRD TAKES OVER OHIO POST MAY 22

COLUMBUS, May 16—Col. Whittier S. Bird, released from active duty at Camp Shelby, Miss., as chief of staff of the 37th division, Ohio National Guard, returns to Columbus May 22 to become adjutant general of Ohio.

Gov. John W. Bricker will name Bird to succeed the late Gilson D. Light of Toledo as soon as official confirmation of Bird's release by the war department is received.

The governor recently requested that Bird be freed to take the Ohio post.

Bird's military career has been woven around the adjutant-general's office for 19 years.

A large-scale job awaits Colonel Bird. On April 28 the governor signed into law a bill creating an Ohio State Guard to replace the national guard now in federal service. Together with a guard commander yet to be appointed, Bird will have the task of working out the details of the guard's personnel and physical makeup.

British Re-take Salum

Cairo, Egypt, May 16 — Salum has been re-occupied by British troops, it was announced officially here today.

A Middle East headquarters communique said serious casualties had been inflicted by the British on Axis forces which had held the Egyptian border outpost, just across from the Libyan frontier and some German prisoners had been made.

Besides reoccupying Salum, the British said Halfaya Pass—whose hot, embattled sands British soldiers call "Hellfire Pass" — and Musaid, also, were retaken.

The German high command acknowledged that British forces had "penetrated" Salum, but said this was only part of stronger forces which advanced both on that post and Fort Capuzzo in Libya. The British paid heavily in casualties and prisoners, the Germans said.

LISBON JAYCEES TO NAME OFFICERS

LISBON, May 16 — The Lisbon Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual election of officers this evening at a meeting at the Johnson cottage, Guilford Lake..

The new officers will then be inducted into office by Att'y Francis Lang of East Liverpool, who was recently elected president of the state organization.

Dewitt Irwin, president of the East Liverpool Junior Chamber and Herbert Brown, president of the Salem Jaycees, will be special guests.

U. S. IS PREPARED IN FRENCH CRISIS

FDR Has Authority to Act Against Any Threat to Hemisphere

States has several courses of immediate action open, informed sources said. It may:

1. Place French colonies under its own protection or the joint protection of hemisphere nations.

2. Stop all food shipments to unoccupied France and terminate negotiations under which Vichy hoped to secure 15,000 tons of wheat monthly.

3. Halt the petroleum shipments which have enabled French North African colonies to proceed with their spring planting, and cancel plans for sending other vitally needed supplies.

4. Refuse any more withdrawals from "frozen" French assets here estimated at $1,500,000,000, depriving the Vichy government of funds for its embassy and consulates here and throughout Latin America.

VICHY, France, May 16. — The immediate and unofficial reaction today to President Roosevelt's anti-Axis appeal to the French people was that it was based on a misunderstanding of Marshal Petain's aims.

It was considered unlikely there would be any publicly expressed official reaction to the Roosevelt statement since it was not formally directed ta the French government.

In any case, it was likely that Vichy would await a full report from the rench embassy at Washington.

To support the theory that President Roosevelt's reaction to French-German collaboration was based on a misunderstanding, the French stressed that Petain's reference yesterday to "the road of honor" meant that the old marshal could be depended on to do nothing to betray it.

The marshal's past references to French honor usually have been in connection with a refusal to take up arms against former Allies.

Women Picket Outside as Halifax Makes Speech

While Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, spoke inside, this group of women, representing various organizations to keep the U. S. out of war, paraded outside a Chicago hotel, carrying the banners pictured. In his speech, the first he made on a seven-day tour of the midwest, the British envoy said that Germany's domination of 164,000,000 people "carries within it the seeds of its own destruction."

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — George Franck, the All-American half back whose fleetness of foot carried the Minnesota football team to a mythical national championship, is starting another track campaign. Franck, whose best time for the 100-yard dash is 9.7 seconds, is one of the ranking speedsters in the Big Ten conference.

HALIFAX — Fishermen in the three Maritime provinces will benefit this season by an extra income of $600,000 if present price levels are maintained and the cod catch remains steady. An increase of $136,751 in the catch in Eastern Division waters alone has been announced in a report of the Department of Fisheries.

FRANKFORT, Me.—Mrs. Celina Donlin is the owner of an "eggbush,"—a common shrub which she made to look as if covered by white flowers by sticking blown eggshells on the twigs.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—A side of beef is—to C. L. Farrer of Salt Lake City—both the means of making money and a place to keep it. A burglar entered Farrer's meat market, pried open the safe and escaped with $100. But he missed a larger sum concealed in the spacious interior of a slaughtered steer.

UN-AMERICAN LAW QUESTIONED TODAY

COLUMBUS, May 15.—An error in the Ohio senate's proceedings today stamped a question mark on the legality of legislation barring un-American parties from the election ballot.

The bill was taken out of the senate judiciary committee, which had refused to recommend its passage, last night when Lieut. Gov. Paul M. Herbert ruled that a 17 yes to 12 no vote was adaquate.

More than an hour later, however, Herbert announced that senate rules required 19 votes to take a bill from Committee.

"The chair is unable to say what effect the error will have on the passage of the bill," he remarked.

Still later, the lieutenant governor expressed belief that the senate's action in passing the bill, 21 to 1, ratified all the previous proceedings.

Chairman Grant P. Ward (R-Franklin) of the judiciary committee, however, asserted that passage of the measure was an empty gesture.

"So far as the courts are concerned," he added, "the bill is still in committee.

Unless opponents obtain reconsideration, the measure will go to Gov. John W. Bricker for signature.

EMBROIDERY TRIMS SOFT DRESS

Pattern 4707

A dress that looks much more expensive than its low cost of making is this attractive Anne Adams style, Pattern 4707. For though the design is simple, the optional trim is rich and charming. Graceful flowers may be embroidered onto each of the novelty-shaped yokes. These motifs are easy to do from a transfer pattern that is included, with full directions in the Sewing Instructor. The soft, becoming lines of the bodice are held trim by gathering beneath the yokes and darts above the front waist. There's unusual below-the-waist flattery too, in three smart skirt panels. Both the short and three-quarter length sleeve versions show dressy gathers. This dress will take you everywhere looking your prettiest.

Pattern 4707 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 3¼ yards 39 inch fabric.

HUNT SOLUTION TO CHINESE PROBLEM

Japs Do Back-Flop In View Of Fast-Moving War In Europe

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

Japan's sudden urge to be quit of the "China affair," as Tokyo likes to euphemize its undeclared war, represents one of the great backflops of history, but while it's astonishing as an acrobatic feat there is no deep mystery about it, since the reasons which impel the Japanese to seek peace seem clear enough. One is that their country is in dire straits economically as the result of their unsuccessful effort through four long years to demonstrate that 70,000,000 Nipponese can sit on 458,000,000 Chinese and keep them down.

Watches America

Another is Tokyo's desire to be free to deal with any situation growing out of the fast moving European war. For one thing, Japan is greatly worried for fear America will enter the conflict. It is understood that representatives of the triple alliance—Germany, Italy and Japan—have been conferring on that point in Rome the past few days.

Then, if we may be frank, the Japanese want to be in position to get their share of the spoils, if any. That is to say, they wish to be prepared to take advantage of any opportunity which arises. If Herr Hitler is victor, there should be some mighty rich pickings for somebody in the Dutch Indies and among the British possessions.

The question of peace with China has become a paramount issue in Japan.

Dismissal Not So Easy

But the Japanese have discovered to their dismay that dismissal of the Chinese conquest is easier said than done. They now find themselves in the uncomfortable position of having either to continue the costly conflict or withdraw and admit failure—unless they can drag Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek into a peace conference.

General Chiang, however, being of determined disposition and having the backing of 5,000,000 soldiers, declines to enter any horse deal with the enemy.

Japan's position is difficult. Chiang has declared that complete withdrawal of the Japanese from his country must be a prelude to peace. Even should he compromise on that, Tokyo would have to swallow a lot of pride.

Meanwhile, both America and Britain have been growing firmer in their attitudes toward Japan. This fact undoubtedly has increased her desire for peace.

Massing of Colors in Ohio Stadium

Ohio Stadium at Ohio State University, Columbus, will be the scene of a colorful patriotic service Sunday, May 18, at 3:30 p. m., to which all Ohioans are invited.

The National Congress of the Sons of the American Revolution meets in Columbus at that time, and the university is joining with the S. A. R. in sponsoring the open-air program which marks central Ohio observance of "I Am An American Day."

A highlight of the service will be the "massing of the colors," in which the flags of all 48 states will be introduced, as well as the colors of dozens of patriotic and fraternal organizations. Two short patriotic addresses and music by Ohio State's 90-piece band and 300-voice mixed chorus complete the program.

An announcement party and shower was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. A. Marquis in honor of Miss Anna Kibler who announced her engagement to Corwin Gotchall of Augusta.

The wedding will be June 22. Twenty-four guests were present and many beautiful presents were received. Miss Kibler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kibler. She has been employed at the Sinclair Filling station and lunch room.

SANDUSKY—A 30-year-old curfew ordinance is still on the Sandusky statute books but has not been operative since a newly constructed water works plant was placed in operation last fall. No provision has been made for blowing the 9 o'clock curfew whistle at the new pumping station.

"Lover Come Back"

by BARRETT WILLOUGHBY

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

Shady's pawing hand raked across the Tanya's transom without finding a grip, and the canoe impelled by the thrust, shot out into clear view, its gunwhales almost dipping water with the big fellow's struggles to right himself.

"Ride him, cowboy!" Chris jeered through cupped hands. Then, as Shady by some miracle managed to drag himself upright without capsizing, Chris bellowed the supreme insult of the sea, "Get a horse, you farmer."

Shady flashed a sickly grin toward the laughing faces on the wharf, and set a wobbling return course to the Baltic.

Sondra wiped her eyes, and turned to the still chuckling Chris. "Tell us about the herring, skipper. Will they be—"

"Chris Sandvik! Ye hidebound son of a limpet! Are ye stranded there? Lay aft!" That stentorian voice turned every eye upward toward Echo House where Captain O'Moore, bareheaded but fully dressed, leaned from an upstairs window.

Sondra felt a twinge of conscience. He had not gone to bed in her absence, though he himself would never admit feeling any anxiety about her.

Chris grinned. "Guess I'd better beat it up there, or the Old Man'll be pinning my ears to the main-m'st."

The three sprinted across the causeway, hearing the engines of the O'Moore trawlers exploding into life, and the winches clanking up their heavy anchor chains.

They found Captain O'Moore in his big chair in the upstairs sitting room, a blue fire of eagerness in his eyes. As Sondra ran to him he flashed her a smile, and drew her down to the chair-arm beside him. But his first words were for Chris: "Ye found the fish, lad. Where?"

"Shelikoff Bay, Cap'n. Slathers of 'em — milling up toward the mouth of Shaman's Lagoon!"

"They'll not have worked inside before the fleet gets out?"

"Nah! Not for another twelve hours, anyhow. There were no whales or anything around to disturb 'em Katlean and old Ish were scouting around the edges with the Scundo, but it's too rough in Shelikoff for the rest of that cracker-box fleet."

"What's that?" A wariness dropped suddenly over the Captain's lively interest. "You say there are Indian boats in the Shelikoff?"

"Yeah. The whole armada is holed-up in the Lagoon. Must have some screwy idea of trying the fish inside there, though even a Siwash ought to know it can't be done."

"I.... wonder." O'Moore's eyes took on a faraway look, his fingers drummed thoughtfully against the chair arm. "With shallow boats and shallow nets, it might be done—if one knew the currents and the bottom, as old Ish does..... Let a big school once get inside there.... our boats can't even enter that lagoon, much less fish it..... By the livin', horn-billed jeezwax!" he concluded, explosively, "we've been near to missin' a trick, me lad!"

He took his arm from around Sondra's waist and leaned forward, beating a fist into his palm as he snapped his orders. "Get ye out there with the fleet, me bucko. Fill the holds and the decks. Then cut in all your underwater exhausts, and scatter that school from Shelikoff to Borneo! And look to it that no other school gets inside Shaman's Lagoon this season."

"But, Dynamite! Why scatter the—"

"Belay, gurl! This is man's business." The Captain's steely eyes switched back to Chris. "Ready to shove off, Skipper?"

"All set, Cap'n—and so are the others, as you can see."

They all turned to the window, through which came the accelerated rattle of winches that told of anchors now rapidly nearing the hawsepipes. There was always spirited rivalry among the O'Moore trawlers to see which should be first away, and the Captain chuckled when he saw all five mudhooks lift clear of the water at almost the same time. "'Tis a dead heat," he said. "And there—they're off! The beauties! All surgin' ahead at once as if——But wha—what the divil—"

The five trawlers, simultaneously, had lost headway and now, like a fleet suddenly bewitched, lay drifting aimlessly while yet their exhausts beat out a song of undiminished power. The crews, seemingly seized by an identical madness, raced aft, flopped on their stomachs, and began jabbing with pikepoles at something under the sterns of their vessels.

"Fouled propellers!" snarled Chris. "But—something's screwy! One of 'em might pick up a line by accident, but not all five at once."

"Reynall!" The Captain spat out the name. "He's out to keep our boats off those herring til they've worked inside Shaman's Lagoon!" He whirled on Chris. "Move, man! Get ye down there to the Tanya and over to Shelikoff as quick as you can; No, no—never mind the fleet. I'll take care of that. Your job's to get to Shelikoff and scatter those fish! Take a boatload of 'em if ye have the time; but whatever else ye do—keep 'em out of Shaman's Lagoon. Ye hear me?"

"Aye, aye, sir!" the speeding Chris shouted back from the stairway.

They saw him race down the float, snatch off the Tanya's lines, and plunge into the wheelhouse. Instantly, with a roar of her exhaust, the O'Moore flagship surged astern. But her bow had not yet cleared the float when she, too, was stricken with the prevailing paralysis. And Chris, like the other skippers, flew aft, threw himself on his stomach, and hung head downward over the stern.

Then, rising, he lifted his face, shook both fists at the morning sky, and gave utterance.

With an odd air of finality, the Captain turned away from the window. "Would ye believe it?" he said slowly, incredulously. "I've let the Reynall pup out-fox me, and cripple me entire fleet. A whole season's pack of herring will be swimmin' into his blasted lagoon, and not a wheel can I turn to stop 'em."

"But he's had no chance to crip-p'le the Tanya!" exclaimed Kemp. "She was all right when she came in not fifteen minutes ago."

"Aye, so she was. But remember that big baboon in the canoe, wallowing under her stern while we all roared at his clumsiness? Reynall sent that omadhaun with his monkey tricks to spike the Tanya's propeller, just as he'd already spiked the others. And, by the powers, he did it right under the eyes of us all!"

Sondra was looking down at her fleet, drifting helplessly in the channel. "So that's what he was planning at the Place of Trees, while he smiled into my eyes!" she thought furiously, her hands tightening into fists.

"Dynamite!" she turned to her grandfather, now sitting very still in his high-back chair. "We're not going to let him get away with this, are we?"

"Wire rope!"

It was not the Captain who spoke, but Chris, wrathful and red-faced, bursting into the sitting room. "A loop of flexible wire rope. Cap'n, dropped over one blade of each propeller; The first whirl wound it into a solid ball of steel that will take chisels and hacksaws to clear." The big fellow brought up in front of the table, braced for his employer's explosion of rage.

But the unpredictable O'Moore continued to sit very still in his chair while seconds ticked by. Finally he emitted an ambiguous sound that ended in a cough. "Any other damage, Chris?"

"Why no! But—"

"Very well, then. Haul the boats out on the sand beach here, and get their propellers cleared. By the time you're ready to put to sea, I'll have figured out where the next big school seems likely to strike in. This is Reynall's round. But the fight's not ended yet, mind ye."

"Then why don't we end it now?" Sondra burst out angrily. "There's a law in this land to deal with such—such piracy."

"Law!" The Captain threw up a small, scarred hand in horror. "All I ask of the law, darlin', is that it keep hands off me personal fish fights. When I'm pulling no punches meself, sure. I can't yell murder if I catch one amidships. Next time—"

"Oh, why think about a next time, then? If this is just a personal fight, Dynamite, why don't you drop the whole messy business right here?"

Kemp, looking anxious and impatient, bent forward. "Will your missing-out on this school seriously impair my chances for early fish, sir?"

"Not at all, lad. There's many another school will be heavin' up offshore, and we'll be taking our pick of 'em. I promised ye a pack, and I'll deliver that same, me boy."

When Kemp and Chris had gone, Sondra dropped to her knees in front of her grandfather and looked up wonderingly into his face. "Dynamite—I just don't understand you. Here Jean Reynall wrecks our entire fleet, and you seem almost to approve—"

"'Tis not wrecked they are, darlin'. Once their propellers are cleared, divil a one will be any the worse."

"There! You see, you make excuses for him; and yet you persist in fighting him. I could understand your doing almost anything to keep him from using the Glory as a fish cannery. But now, when nothing you can do will prevent that—you go right on fighting. It isn't like you, lamb, to show such—vindictiveness."

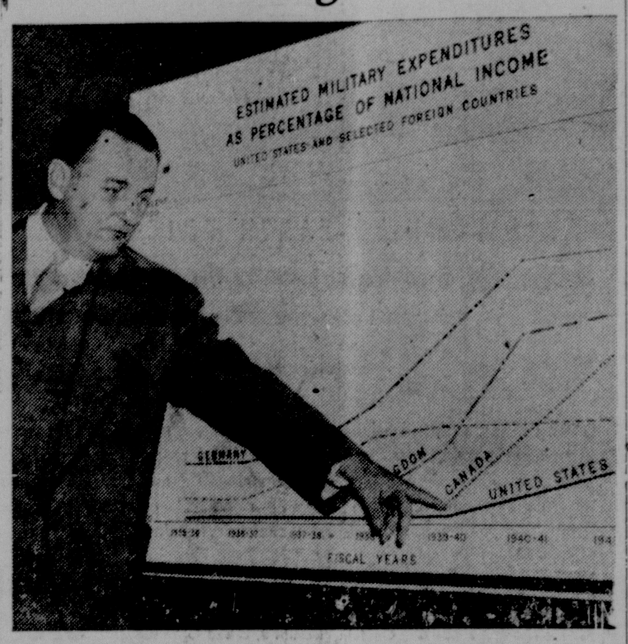

"Vindictiveness," he repeated thoughtfully. "Aye, that's what it is, Sondy; but 'tis none of mine." His eyes met hers fairly, with a strange look she could not name. "Look ye, darlin', 'Twould be a different thing had anyone else brought the Glory here as a floating cannery. But when Jacqueline Reynall drags me old command back as a fish scow, she does it for but one reason—to put a knife in me heart. To make me crawl and beg, as once she vowed I must. It was her last word to me, and she standin' slim and wild there on the deck, with her black eyes flashin' and her black hair whippin in the wind. 'One day, Danny O'Moore, ye'll come crawlin' to me, beggin' me favor!'" He was staring back through the years to that tempestous scene. "Over fifty years!" he said, in a hurt, bewildered voice. "And still she carries the hate of me strong in her heart."

Sondra caught his hand in a rush of fierce, protective tenderness. "That woman! I could—. But put her out of your mind, darling. Don't let her hurt you any more."

"Hurt me!" He straightened indignantly. "Why, Jacqueline Reynall couldn't hurt me now, after—" The fire suddenly went out of him. "I'll not lie to ye, Sondy," he said with weary gentleness. "Belike it does hurt a bit, even now. But no hurt can make Dan O'Moore crawl or beg for what he'd have, of man or woman." He cleared his throat harshly; then patted her shoulder and pushed her gently away. Arrrgh, now, darlin', 'tis starvin' I am for a bite of breakfast. See if Jodin is astir."

Asks Tax Program Revision

Leon Henderson, Federal Price Administrator, displays a chart showing estimated percentages of national incomes of America and other countries that are going into military expenditures, during an appearance before the House Ways and Means Committee. Henderson declared much of the Treasury's revenue program is "deflationary and unnecessary" and urged revision of the proposed tax program.

HISTORY MADE BY OLD IRON KETTLE

Pot Used By Founder of Sugar Industry In Louisiana

(By United Press)

BATON ROUGE, La. — An old iron kettle, blackened by the many fires over which it has hung in the past 200 years, rests on the campus of Louisiana State University as a memorial to the man who made Louisiana's sugar industry possible.

Indigo was the money crop when the French planter aristocracy owned plantations that stretched for miles along the bayous and lakes of Southern Louisiana at the end of the 18th century. Jean Etienne de Bore was no exception.

De Bore was born in the Illinois section of the Louisiana Purchase territary. At the age of 4, he was taken to France by his parents where he received his education and later married into large colonial holdings.

He returned to New Orleans with his wife about the time of the French Revolution and established his plantation on what now is a part of Audubon park near the city limits.

Planters Near Bankruptcy

There he engaged in the planting of indigo. When a blight, however, wiped out the indigo crops, de Bore and other of the planters were faced with bankruptcy.

Many planters already had tried to granulate sugar from cane juice, but their experiments failed time after time. De Bore, over-ridin the protests of his wife, decided to have a fling at the sugar business.

He planted his entire plantation in sugar cane, built a small sugar mill and imported an experienced sugarmaker. His experiment attracted wide attention.

Success Achieved in 1795

A crowd gathered at the sugar house one day in December, 1795. A large black pot had been placed over a hot fire. As many as could crowd into the house watched the cane juice for a sign of granulation. Finally, small white spots appeared on the surface.

Historians say that on that day the sugar industry in Lonisiana was born.

When the Audubon sugar school was established in 1891 for training experts in sugar works the old kettle was taken out of its corner and presented to the school by Charles Etienne Gayardre, Louisiana historian and grandson of de Bore.

The kettle passed with the school when, five years later, it was taken over by Louisiana State university. It now is firmly embedded in a brick base in front of the sugar school

Fire Loss Declines Nearly Two Million

COLUMBUS, May 16—State Fire Marshal Ray R. Gill reported today that 1940 fires cost Ohio $9,297,074—more than $1,750,000 less than in 1939 and the lowest loss since 1917's $7,500,000.

At the same time Gill noted a sharp decline in deaths by burning, with 351 listed for 1940 against 377 in 1939 and 583 in 1917.

Gill attributed the slash principally to greater "safety consciousness" on the part of the public and the use of more efficient firemen and fire fighting equipment.

"There also has been increased activity in the office of fire marshal," Gill added. "Last year we ordered 1,159 buildings either torn down or repaired to eliminate fire hazards.

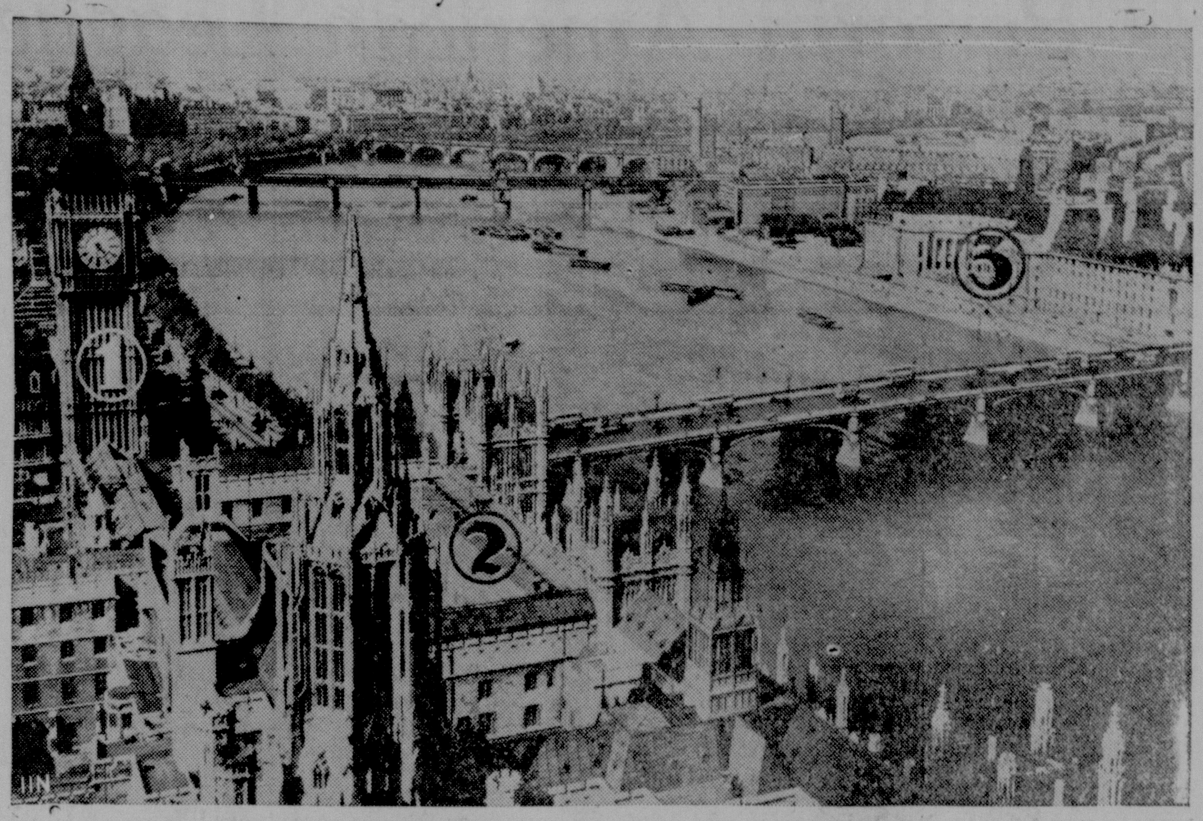

"However, the danger of fires is increasing steadily as defense industries quicken. Right now we have a great need for every individual to make it a personal responsibility to eliminate fire hazards in the home, camp or factory."

Carelessness with matches and smoking were blamed for 4,214 of the 24,797 fires reported to the division last year. Second on the menace list were smokestack sparks, charged with 3,069 blazes. Electric wiring was blamed for 2,680, defective flues and chimneys 2,284, stoves, furnaces, boilers and their pipes, 2,253.

Division records disclosed a major decline in the cost of individual fires, with last year's averaging $375, compared with nearly $1,300 each for 5,803 blazes reported in 1917.

LARGEST DISTRICT CONTEST IN YEARS SCHEDULED HERE

Winners Go To Columbus; Heavy Track to Slow Record Breakers

Akron Buchtel's entry into the NEO district track meet at Reilly stadium tomorrow brings the total number of teams entered to 24, four more than were entered last year. Buchtel's ten-man aggregation also swells the total number of athletes entered to 310, a larger number of participants than have competed in the meet for years.

The heavy track is due to make it tough for aspiring record breakers but will have no effect on the qualifications for the state meet at Columbus: the first three men in each event are entitled to go regardless of time. The first three teams in the meet will also get to make the trip.

Favorites in the meet are East Palestine and three Akron schools, East, North, and South. Last year's winner, Akron Garfield, is not rated high, due to the loss of several good men, while Massillon, runner-up at the last conclave, brings only a nine man team.

The half-mile run is expected to draw a lot of attention with Roberts of East Palestine and Orenic of Struthers fighting it out for first place. The mile run has also attracted several good men and should be one of the best races of the day.

Bill Scalley of East Palestine will show district fans his wares under some of the most difficult competition he has had to meet in high school.

The prelims for the meet will be held at 9 a. m. and the finals at 2 p. m.

The teams entered and the number of athletes in each are listed below:

Akron East 26; Alliance 22; Akron Garfield 22; Barberton 17; Louisville 5; Ravenna 11; Struthers 11.

Warren Harding 16; Canton Lehman 5; Akron South 16; Youngstown Rayen 20; Lisbon 1; Akron Kenmore 3; Salem 23; Boardman 12.

Youngstown Fitch 4; Canton McKinley 15; Niles 3; Cuyahoga Falls 3; Akron West 11; Massillon 9; Akron North 18; Wellsville 18; Akron Buchtel 10.

Phils Defeat Reds In First Night Game

CINCINNATI, May 16. — Seems that the Reds are on the right track to more batting power, only they need seven more men like Ernie Koy and Chuck Aleno.

These two gentlemen, Koy a seasoned slugger just purchased for $35,000 from St. Louis, and Aleno, a rookie up from Birmingham via Indianapolis, contributed a pair of hits apiece last night for the world's declining champions, but they won no ball game.

The Philadelphia Phillies, who will end the National league season in last place if the Reds don't, opened up in the ninth inning to score four runs and victory, 5 to 4. It was their third straight over the Reds, Gene Thompson's third straight defeat with no wins, and the Reds' fifth straight loss.

At that, though, the Reds' batting in the first night game of the year wasn't too bad. They got ten hits in all and all the extra-base jobs of the game—doubles by Koy and pinch-hitter Jimmy Ripple and Frank McCormick's sixth homer of the year.

The only trouble was that the combination wasn't right. The Reds laboriously put together a 3-1 lead, the three runs representing a new high for recent scoring, in the first eight innings.

It was just too much prosperity for Thompson and before he, Joe Beggs, and Whitey Moore got through, the Phils had hit five singles, a sacrifice and a long fly to win. All that stopped it was Ernie Lombardi's quick throw to Aleno at third to pick Danny Litwhiler off.

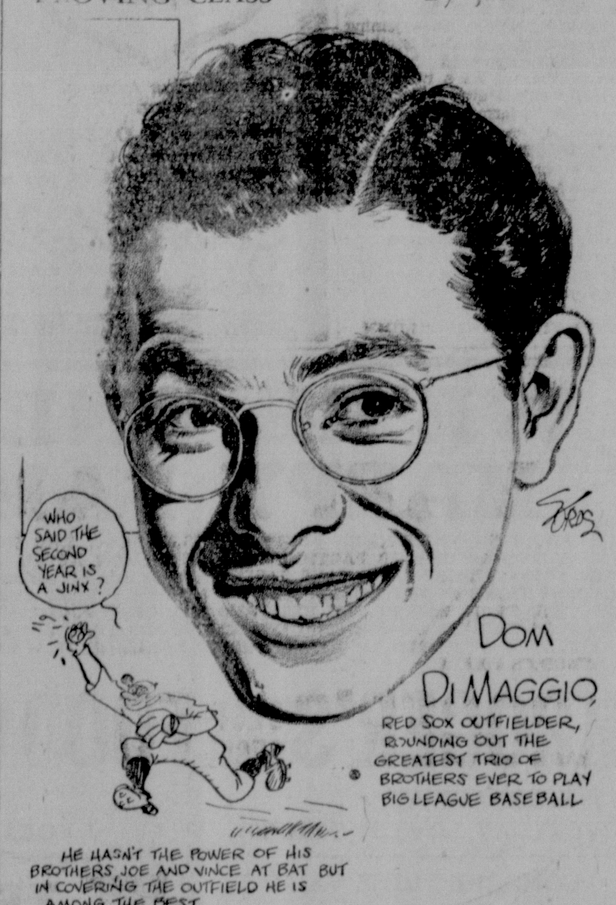

Some of the 18,000-odd fans stayed to see Ripple double and sore on a single by Lonnie Frey after two were out in the Reds' half of the ninth, but that was all.

The Reds take a grateful rest today and wind up the Phil series tomorrow. Jim Turner and Cy Blanton are the likely pitchers.

REX MAYS SEEKS INITIAL TRIUMPH AT INDIANAPOLIS

Glendale Racer Dogged by Bad Luck In Memorial Day Classic

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.— Weather clear; track fast.

If they post that announcement at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway May 30, Rex Mays will be satisfied.

Supreme desire of the Glendale (Cal.) comet today is that there be no rain to mar the 29th running of the Memorial Day 500-mile classic. His wish is understandable.

One hundred and twenty-five miles from home, last year's "500" field ran into a drizzle of rain. Wilbur Shaw was setting the pace; Rex Mays was running second, two laps behind.

Fly Caution Flag

Mays will never forget what happened then. For more than an hour, he wheeled his powerful, streamlined race car around the two and one-half mile speedway oval at a snail's pace, prohibited from attempting to improve his position under the yellow caution flags.

Mays feels that he could have overtaken Shaw and chalked up his first victory in the $100,000 classic, if rain hadn't hampered the finish. All he asks this year is a dry track and a chance for an all-out run over the full 500 miles.

First Finish

The 1940 race marked the first time in six tries that Mays had completed the route. The fact that he finished last year, is attributed to the power of his eight-cylinder mount designed and built by Lou Meyer, of Huntington Park, Cal., first three-time winner of the Indianapolis race.

Meyer's creation is one of the few machines capable of withstanding the terrific punishment dealt out by the heavy-footed speedster from the West Coast.

Improve Cars Speed

Robert M. Bowes, Indianapolis manufacturer, again has nominated Mays to drive the car and reports are that Mays, Meyer and W. C. "Bud" Winfield, engineer, have revamped the machine to give it even more speed this year.

"I am going to set her on the pole again this year and then I expect to place her directly under the first wave of the checkered flag," Mays said.

To Be No. 1

He will carry No. 1 on his car this year, although Wilbur Shaw, the defending titlist, will be back at the Speedway trying for victory No. 4. Mays won the AAA national championship racing crown by piling up enough points in numerous shorter events throughout the country to offset the total Shaw gained in the 500-mile race.

BOWLING NEWS

Championship of the Pastime league went to the Salem Label team as the result of a postponed match on the Grate alleys last night, when the Wright Southpaws upset the Citizens Ice five in all three games.

Wrights won the first game by one pin, came back to take the second by a margin of 49 and then edged the Icemen a third time by two pins.

This unexpected ending of the league season gave the Label keglers undisputed leadership, permitted Firestones to finish in second place and dropped the Citizens Ice into a tie with Eatons for fourth place. By winning thre, Wrights went into a tie with Tysons for fifth place.

As the regular season closed Wednesday night, the Iceman had a chance of finishing in a tie for first place by winning three from Wrights. One defeat would have given them a tie for second with Firestones.

For weeks the four top teams had been in a close race. Firestones at first leading for some time, later to be displaced by the Label team and then by Citizens, who held the lead until this week. Eatons had been in second place, fell to third and finally to fourth, but throughout the weeks of jockeying only a few games separated the first and fourth place teams.

Winners of first place as the season closed, the Labelmen started slowly and at one time were in seventh place in the 12-team league. They began to climb gradually and then took a spurt which kept them in the money until the finish. In their last 24 games, the Labelmen lost only two, one a week ago and one the week before.

Standings of the first six teams, changed by last night's match, follow:

SOUTHPAW MILNAR CHALKS UP FIFTH VICTORY OF YEAR

Big Al Proves That He Is Still League's Best Left Hander

(By Associated Press)

BOSTON, May 16.—Bob Feller is rightfully viewed as the Indians' premier pitcher, but American league followers should never make the mistake of overlooking Al Milnar, the lantern-jawed southpaw who grew up on the Cleveland sandlots.

Last year big Al notched 18 triumphs, the top figure for portsiders in the league. Yesterday the 27-year old flinger beat Boston, 6 to 4, for his fifth decision of the season, putting him on the heels of six-victory Feller.

Out in Front by Four

The triumph, the third in a row for the fast-stepping Redskins, placed them four games in front of second-place Chicago. Jim Bagby and Boston's Mickey Harris were the pitching nominees for the second game of the Red Sox series.

Milnar limited the Hub city batters to four hits until he weakened in the eighth. Joe Heving and Feller finished, with the latter pitching to only two men.

Ken Keltner's double and two singles sparked a 11-hit attack against Earl Johnson, Bill Fleming and Mike Ryba. Johnson, the losing pitcher, was shelled out in the seventh by Cleveland's two-run rally.

Cronin's Error Helps

The Indians opened scoring with a run in the third on Lou Boudreau's double and Jeff Heath's single. They added three in the fifth when Clarence Campbell and Keltner singled, Hal Trosky walked and Joe Cronin made a two-run error on Gerry Walker's grounder. Stan Spence then allowed Ray Mack's fly to drop for a double and Walker scampered home.

Keltner's two-base smash, singles by Trosky and Heath and Walker's fly plated the deciding tallies in the seventh.

Two walks and Bobby Doerr's single gave Boston a run in the fourth and Dom DiMaggio's walk and Spence's triple added another in the fifth. Doerr's double scored two runs in the eighth and chased Milnar.

Feller is slated to pitch the final game of the series tomorrow. Sunday the Indians invade Philadelphia for a two-day stand.

MORE NIGHT GAMES PREDICTED BY MACK

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—Connie Mack, noting a drop in baseball attendance due to stepped up defense work, disclosed today a move for more night games to meet demands of fans.

He predicted the major leagues would get together in joint session within two weeks and lift a rule prohibiting more than seven nocturnal tilts at home a season.

"We may have 10, 14 or even more," declared the manager of the Athletics. "My suggestion to increase night games—voted down at the winter meeting—has been gaining momentum.

"Within the last few days I have talked to practically all the owners in our own league and I am sure a similar discussion has been going on in the National."

Where's Whirlaway? He's Last Leaving the Gate

If you still doubt the greatness of the horse Whirlaway, this should expel it. For Whirlaway, who won both the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness in easy style, was last to leave the starting gate in the Preakness. Behind by seven lengths at the half mile, Whirlaway went on to win the Pimlico, Md., classic by five lengths. Whirlaway is No. 1 here, on the rail.

HUMBLE YANKEES IN 13-1 BARRAGE; 3 HOME RUNS HELP

Occasion Marks Retirement of Leader Dykes As Active Player

(By Associated Press)

The Chicago White Sox are performing tricks again in the American league, hovering around second place with a collection of castoffs while other star-studded clubs wallow in despair.

Their aging pitchers have surpassed the staffs of every other team in both majors by hurling 17 complete games out of 24 played, in spite of hit-and-miss help from their teammates.

The Sox have played errorless ball in only four of their contests, and their inconspicuous hitting has caused nine of their 14 victories to come through a one-run wringe.

Celebrate Dykes Day"

Yesterday was an occasion—the retirement of their brash, swashbuckling leader, Jimmy Dykes, as a player after 22 years on the active list of the American league. And the Sox celebrated.

They whipped out a 14-hit offensive and sent the once-proud Yankees crashing to their fifth straight defeat, 13-1. The Sox had made only five homers all season, but they belted three more as evidence of their enthusiasm.

The Cleveland Indians kept rolling with a 6-4 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

The Detroit Tigers broke their six-game losing streak by overwhelming the Athletics, 10-2, with a vicious 18-hit attack and the seven-hit hurling of young Hal Newhouser.

Hurls One-hitter

The St Louis Browns shut out the Washington Senators, 7-0, with a sensational one-hit pitching performance by slender Dennis Galehouse, one of the pitchers the Brownies bought from the Red Sox last winter.

Cincinnati's world champions went staggering to their fifth consecutive defeat, 5-4, at the hands of the Phillies.

The Boston Braves bumped off the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-3, in a loose game played in 90-degree temperature.

Hal Schumacher outpitched Claude Passeau, six hits to eight, and led the New York Giants to a 2-1 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

The Brooklyn Dodgers were kept idle by wet grounds at Pittsburgh.
